The 15 July entry deadline for the Citeline Japan Awards 2024 in Tokyo is fast approaching, so here's a reminder to take a look at the categories and criteria and be sure you get those submissions in by this date. Sponsorship opportunities and tables are also available.

(Japanese follows English.) The Citeline Japan Awards 2024 will take place at the Palace Hotel in Tokyo on 22 October. This will be the third year for our growing Awards event in Japan, which has met with great success and much interest from the industry in this key global pharma market.

The entry deadline of 15 July is fast approaching so if you are thinking about making an entry, please take a look at the categories and criteria and submit your entry forms for the seven enterable categories by this date.

These include Best New Drug, Executive of the Year, Biotech Company of the Year, Best Contract Research Organization, Best Contract Development Manufacturing Organization, Licensing Deal of the Year, and Financing Deal of the Year.

Nominations can also be made for Pharma Company of the Year and the Lifetime Achievement Award, for which the winners are decided by a senior Citeline team.

The benefits of making an entry include exposure for your company through possible shortlisting and of course any final winners as decided by our distinguished independent judging panel would benefit from receiving the prestigious award and the recognition that comes from this.

A full guide on the criteria for each category and how to make an entry, along with all other information on the event, are available in English and Japanese at the links below. Also take this
